

Shaping the church for a new generation

Our children and grandchildren are shaping the church for a new generation and, it's looking and feeling very different.

Current research indicates that children who develop an understanding of something greater than themselves have a deeper sense of meaning and purpose, reinforcing their connections to the community around them. They are less likely to suffer from a major depression and are significantly happier overall.

Help our children on their journey of faith.

“When it comes to spirituality, parents are kids’ ambassadors. We can show them around, but we don’t need to know everything.”

– Dr Lisa Miller, Columbia University, NY

THE ANGLICAN FOUNDATION OF CANADA is dedicated to the nurture and support of children in Canada with an emphasis on the following four programs that Anglican youth identified:

- breakfast programs before school
- after-school homework clubs
- choir school and summer camp
- end of life and hospice care

We invite you to consider your legacy to our children and the future generations by making a gift that will:

- help young people build and shape the Anglican Church of Canada for years to come
- nurture, care, and support Canadian youth in the formation of their faith and the development of their spiritual lives
- give you peace of mind that comes from having given a gift to those who come after you
